

A Modest Proposal To Transform the Fed into a Hamiltonian National Bank

A very reliable source has proposed a plan to "reform" the Federal Reserve System into a Hamiltonian national bank. The proposal came in the context of discussion with Executive Intelligence Review about Lyndon LaRouche's proposal for the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA). The source, a prominent scholar of the American System, called for the 12 regional Federal Reserve Banks to be given discount window facilities, to emit new credits for productive investment into every region of the country. Right now, the Fed discount window is centrally controlled between Washington and Wall Street, with the New York Fed exerting a dominant position over all of the other regional Federal Reserve Banks, meaning that the Wall Street/London crowd has a further choke-hold on credit. According to one senior U.S. intelligence official, this proposal has been promoted by a number of current and former regional Federal Reserve Bank officials.

Skromni prijedlog preobrazbe FED-a u Hamiltonsku nacionalnu banku

Vrlo pouzdani izvor predložio je plan „reforme“ Sustava Savezne Pričuve u Hamiltonsku nacionalnu banku. Prijedlog je nastao u sklopu diskusije s Executive Intelligence Review magazinom o Lyndon LaRouche-evom prijedlogu udruge North American Water And Power Alliance (NAWAPA – Sjevernoamerička udruga (korištenja vode i električne energije). Izvor, istaknuti učenjak Američkog sustava [političke ekonomije] podnosi zahtjev za 12 regularnih Saveznih Banaka Pričuve kojima će se odobriti otvaranje mogućnosti eskontnog šaltera, preko kojeg će se emitirati novi krediti za ulaganja u proizvodnju u svakoj regiji zemlje. Sada, eskontnim šalterom FED-a upravlja središnjica između Washington i Wall Street-a, gdje njujorški FED zauzima dominantni položaj nad svim drugim regionalnim FED bankama, što znači da klika Wall Street-a/Londona drži u rukama dodatni prigušnik kredita. Prema stanovitom višem službeniku američke obavještajne službe, promicanje ovog prijedloga potiče određeni broj sadašnjih i bivših dužnosnika FED banke.
